

SPECIFICATIONS FOR ROLL STOCK DELIVERIES

- Provide advance notification of all paper shipments. Note the planned quantity and delivery date and whether the paper has chain-of-custody certification. Identify the stock as much as possible. The list below of labeling requirements details the essential information.
- Roll width may not be less than specified and no more than 1/16 inch greater than specified.
- Rolls must be tightly and evenly wound on three-inch non-returnable heavy duty fiber cores with core protectors. No damage shall be in evidence, and no metal cores. No more than two splices per roll, and none within one inch of the outside diameter. All splices must be tagged unless other specific arrangements have been made. Press downtime caused by defective or excessive splices is subject to chargeback.
- Rolls may not exceed 3,000 pounds. Web rolls (up to 33 inches wide) have a diameter range of 38 to 50 inches; sheeter rolls (35 inches wide and greater) have a diameter range of 38 to 42 inches. The diameter of all rolls within a shipment should be within one inch of each other; roll handling fees may be assessed for differences exceeding two inches. On shipments of rolls 42 inches wide or larger, variances in excess of +/- 50 pounds from the shipment average will be assessed a spoilage fee for the unusable sheeter stock.
- Paper that exceeds a +5% basis weight variance will be rejected.
- Number each roll via a printed card enclosed within the core; do not stamp the roll ends. Wrap each roll in moisture-proof paper with protective pads on the ends. Stack larger rolls on the bottom. Rolls 30 inches in width or less must be double-packed, unless a waiver has been specifically granted in advance by the Maple Press Paper and Receiving Departments. Rolls must not exceed 3000 pounds.
- Identify shipments clearly on the end and side of the outer wrap with the following:
 - ~ Type of paper (description of stock, including size, grade, etc.)
 - ~ Customer's name, order number and paper lot number
 - ~ Maple Press Purchase Order number, if applicable
 - ~ Title and author, if paper is for a specific job
 - ~ Paper bulk (pages per inch)
 - ~ Number of feet and the gross weight of the rolls
 - ~ Basis weight
